Estate Planning with Dogs and Cats

Our dogs, cats and other pets are so close to our hearts, it's difficult to think about the day when they'll no longer be with us. But what if something happens to us first, and we're not around to take care of them? When preparing your will or trust, what is the best way to plan for your pets' future after you're gone, and what should you include in your will? In the event that you pass away first, your animals will need immediate care and love. We've compiled some helpful tips for estate planning with pets in mind.

You'll want to choose both emergency and permanent caregivers for your pets. Here are some tips:

- 1 Ask a few trusted friends or family members to act as emergency caregivers. And you'll want to arrange for more than one caregiver, just in case someone isn't available. Give them feeding and care instructions for your pets, contact information for your veterinarian and a key to your house.
- 1 You'll want to let the rest of your family, friends and loved ones know how many pets you have, and that contact information for your emergency caregivers is available. Keep this contact information in your wallet and somewhere in your home where it's easy to find.
- 1 To ensure long-term care for your four-legged friends, you'll need to name a permanent caregiver. Be sure to choose someone you know who will be able to provide your pets with a good home, someone who can give your pets the kind of attention and care they're used to.
- 1 If you don't have someone in mind as a permanent caregiver, give detailed instructions to your emergency caregivers regarding how to find a new home for your pets. If you adopted a pet from an organization, be sure to check your adoption agreement for clauses requiring your pet to be returned to their care.
- 1 Talk about your wishes and the needs of your pets with your potential caregivers. If you have multiple pets, decide whether they should stay together or be placed with different caregivers. Keep in touch with your caregivers, so that you can make other arrangements if their circumstances change and they are no longer available to serve in that capacity.
- 1 When designating a permanent caregiver, you should include a backup option. Although it may seem like a good idea, avoid naming an organization as your permanent caregiver (unless otherwise stipulated in your adoption agreement). While some animal welfare organizations may have temporary space available, they generally can't offer the kind of long-term care your animals will need. Your pets are your companions, and are used to living in your home. Think about placing them where they'd be the most comfortable.

Provisions for pets in a will or trust

You can help to ensure that everything goes smoothly by incorporating your wishes for emergency and long-term care for your animals in your will or trust. Making formal arrangements will bring you peace of mind and reassurance that your pets will be properly looked after. Remember, it's important to set up emergency care as well as permanent care for your pets, since long-term arrangements can take some time to implement and your pets will need immediate attention in the event that something happens to you.

- 1 While preparing your estate planning trust, you'll want to include authorization for the use of funds from your estate for your pets. This money can be used for their care and any other costs that may arise, such as the cost of transportation to their new home. Consider setting up a trustee which can add an additional layer of oversight and care for your animals.
- 1 Planning provisions for your pets requires some important decision-making. If you have any questions, consult a legal expert who can assist you with deciding what to include in your will. That person can also help you figure out what kind of estate planning with your pets will be most effective. And don't forget to leave copies of your will or trust with your executor and chosen caregivers.

ARF can usually take in small dogs as long as they are dog friendly and can room with another small dog. We do keep animals long term and they get plenty of love, exercise and socialization. We have a very good track record of adopting small dogs back out quickly to couples that have lost their senior dogs. Larger dogs must be dog & people friendly before we can consider accepting them. It will also depend if we have kennel space available.

Heartfelt Dog Stories

Updates on ARF dogs that were featured in our Spring/Summer newsletter.

Coco and Cinco are 2 senior dogs that we transferred to Whispering Willows dog retirement home in Missouri. They are living the pampered life now in a fabulous home.

Twix and Hershey were both adopted and are in their forever home.

Bindi is a sweet and sassy little lady looking for a lap to keep warm. She is fine with other calm, quiet dogs, but wouldn't mind being the center of attention in her forever home. She is about 7 years old and weighs 9 lbs. She loves car rides, walks, and sitting on anyone's lap. Bindi is not a fan of rambunctious behavior and is very nervous around kids, so we are looking for a home with adults only.

Fill out an application at the <https://petestablished.com/public/search/shelter/301551> Adoption fee is $150 which includes, spay/neuter, vaccines, etc, and a free 1 year membership to our 5 acre ARF Park. For other dog questions please email ARFdogs74006@gmail.com

Bindi

Strudel

Strudel is a 1.5 year old 40lb bundle of love. She loves people and kids. Will roll over for belly rubs and loves attention.

Strudel is a sweet and affectionate girl looking for a home without other dogs. She is good with kids and wants to snuggle more than anything else! Strudel loves to go for walks and spend time outside sniffing, so she'd be a lovely hiking or outdoor adventure buddy.

ARF Spay/Neuter clinics are done for 2020. The next clinic will be in the Spring of 2021. Dates will be posted when they are scheduled.

Heartfelt Cat Stories

Updates on ARF cats that were featured in our Spring/Summer newsletter. Spring, one of our Senior Cats, was adopted shortly after the last newsletter. She is now in her wonderful forever home and is doing great.

Miss Kitty is also a Senior Cat we featured and she too was adopted. Miss Kitty was originally brought in because her owner passed away. She was adopted just 2 weeks ago to a family member of the deceased owner who did not realize she had been brought to ARF. Miss Kitty is now living with the owner's granddaughter who is away at college and there are four girls who are spoiling her rotten. She is a very happy kitty.

Tux is the saddest update to write. We lost Tux just this week, October 13, to cancer. He had lived with the disease for most of his 8 years and was a wonderful cat while living at ARF. He was pampered and given every chance to see the best veterinarians with the best medicines and very rarely complained about all of the medicines he had to take. He was a trooper and will be very much missed.

Gambler

Gambler was brought to ARF by an individual after he was found at a casino as a stray, therefore, his name. It was night time and the person who saw him chased him for about three hours before she could catch him. She would have kept him but she had three large dogs and was not sure if they would all get along.

He was quite shy when he first arrived and it took him a long time to get used to people but he has come a long way now. He is sociable and gets along very well with other cats.

Come visit Gambler and take a "chance". What are the "odds" you might just fall in love with him.

Miss Pretty

Miss Pretty came to ARF after her owner developed Dementia and could no longer care for her. She was adopted as a kitten and returned at four years of age.

She is a gorgeous cat with a lot of catitude. She loves people but does not like other cats at all. She is miserable living here with so many other cats so she would need to be adopted into a home as the only cat. She was living with a dog, however, so that should not be a problem.

Plan ahead for your pets in case you become sick and have to enter the hospital. Make sure you have plenty of food in stock for them and that you have a family member or friend that has access to your house and know how to care for your pets. It is also a good tactic as well as preparing a dossier for your pet that includes their habits, preferences, medical conditions and any other relevant information.

Non - Event Cats vs Dogs

This year's non event...event will be a little different because of Covid. The details will go out in a mailing in November. The results will be published on our website and facebook page in January.
